Ireland	2023	INAR (2023) iReport reports of racist incidents in Ireland 2022. Dublin: INAR.	https://inar.ie/wp-content/uploads/2023/03/Reports-of-Racism-in-Ireland-2022.pdf	Racism & xenophobia	Ireland, Irish Network Against Racism	The iReport.ie survey data showed South Asians (including but not limited to Muslims) were the second most targeted group in hate crimes after people of Black African backgrounds, and the second most targeted in assaults after people of Black African backgrounds. South Asians reported 17 percent of all crimes to iReport.ie and 32 percent of all discrimination.	An online questionnaire collects data on personal characteristics, the date, location, type and consequence of each incident, and details about reporting and outcomes. The data is independently analysed and results published annually.	600 reports were received in 2022 by voluntary and anonymous reporting by the public to the iReport.ie racist incident reporting platform hosted by INAR. This included 223 reports about criminal offences (excluding incitement to hatred). There were 190 reports about discrimination, and 42 reports of other recordable racist incidents. There were 136 further reports about racist hate speech.	Not applicable - national level
