Austria	2015	ECRI Report (fifth monitoring cycle), Published on 13 October 2015	https://www.coe.int/en/web/european-commission-against-racism-and-intolerance/a...	Racism & xenophobia, Discrimination, Hate crime	ECRI European Commission against Racism and Intolerance Council of Europe	The Austrian Police reports on hate crime referring to the statistics in the report on the Protection of the Constitution. In 2013, 574 acts committed with bias motivations were recorded (2012:519). 10.6% of these were classified as racist motivations were recorded (2012: 519). 10.6% of these were classified as racist and xenophobic (2012: 11.4%), 6.5% as anti-Semitic (2012: 5.2%), 2.1% as Islamophobic (2012: 0.8%), and 64.6% as right-wing extremist (2012: 56.4%). Experts and civil society consider that hate speech is generally under-reported. The Service for the Protection of the Constitution (SPC) reports that a new generation of right wing extremist organisations has appeared, which present racist views through 'more diplomatic propagandas' and aim at recruitment young people to a large extent from universities and student fraternities (Burschenschaften). Racism on the internet and social media is on the rise. In 2013 the number of cases denounced on a police website for reporting Nazi activities rose to 1900 .	The working methods for the preparation of the reports involve documentary analyses, a visit to the country concerned, and then a confidential dialogue with the national authorities.	ECRI's reports are analyses based on a great deal of information gathered from a wide variety of sources.	Not applicable - national level
