Research findings

Country code	Year	Reference details title	Reference details URL	Main thematic focus	Institution	Key findings - Short summary	Methodology (Qualitative/Quantitative and exact type used, questionnaires etc)	Sample details and representativeness	Area/location of interest - NUTS3 level
France	2019	CNCDH (2019), Rapport 2018 sur la lutte contre le racisme, l'antisémitisme et la xénophobie (2018 Report on the fight against racism, anti-Semitism and xenophobia)	https://www.cncdh.fr/publications/rapport-2018-sur-la-lutte-contre-le-racisme-l...	Racism & xenophobia	France, Commission nationale consultative des droits de l'homme (National Consultative Commission for Human Rights - CNCDH)	The year 2018 was marked by an overall increase in racist acts reported to the police. This increase must be put into perspective by a detailed analysis of these figures and by putting them into the perspective of an overall downward trend in racist acts reported since 2015. The tolerance index rose by a further two points in 2018, reaching its highest level since its creation in 1990. Racism in France is still largely under-reported and often manifests itself through subtle forms of rejection that are sometimes difficult to characterise and denounce for the people who are victims.	Study - qualitative research	Ministries, administrations, associations and other entities and individuals replied to the questionnaire sent by the CNCDH, which also took into account surveys on the state of public opinion, analyses by its partner researchers, the statistical report of the Ministry of the Interior on observed racist acts and that of the Ministry of Justice on the criminal courts' response.	Not applicable - national level
