Criminal Detention in the EU Conditions and Monitoring

Research findings

Country code	Year	Reference details title	Reference details URL	Main thematic focus	Institution	Key findings - Short summary	Methodology (Qualitative/Quantitative and exact type used, questionnaires etc)	Sample details and representativeness	Area/location of interest - NUTS3 level
Denmark	2022	The Danish Institute for Human Rights (2022). Ethnic profiling - Main results from three investigations (Etnisk profilering - Hovedresultater fra tre undersøgelser), Copenhagen, March 2022	https://menneskeret.dk/files/media/document/Politi_Hovedrapport_06.pdf	Ethnic profiling	Denmark, The Danish Institute for Human Rights (Institut for Menneskerettigheder)	The report investigates ethnic profiling in the Danish police. The report shows that ethnic minorities are more often charged for crimes in cases where they are later acquitted from. In 2009-2019, the probability of getting charged with af crime without conviction was 11 pct. for people with Danish origin while it was 14 and 16 pct. for immigrants and descendants respectively. These difference corresponds to a 27 pct. increase in the probability of getting charged with a crime that leads to acquittal for immigrants compared to citizens with Danish origin and a 45 pct. higher increase for descendents of immirgants compared to citizens with Danish origin.	Quantitative (registry-based study)	The report is based on 2,5 mio. charges and 270.000 arrests in the period 2009-2019.	Not applicable - national level

DISCLAIMER The information presented here is collected under contract by the FRA's research network FRANET. The information and views contained do not necessarily reflect the views or the official position of the FRA.

http://fra.europa.eu/en/databases/criminal-detention/

Copyright © 2025 European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights