

European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights

Personal information

Surname(s)

Striani

First name(s)

Rosalba

Country

European Commission

Current professional position

*Acting Head of Unit – Fundamental Rights Policy
DG Justice and Consumers*

Position on the MB

Full member

Term of office on MB

Additional Information

Rosalba Striani is Acting Head of the Fundamental Rights and Free Movement Unit in the European Commission's Directorate-General for Justice and Consumers (DG JUST), where she leads work on the promotion and enforcement of the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights and on EU citizenship and free movement of persons' law. In previous roles within DG JUST, as Policy Assistant to the Director-General and as a member of the international data flows and protection unit, she developed extensive experience across rule of law, fundamental rights and privacy-related matters. Prior to joining DG JUST, Rosalba worked, at both European and national level, on the enforcement of competition law and consumers' rights. She also gained substantial litigation experience before the European courts. She holds a law degree from the University of Siena and a Master's degree in EU law from the Université libre de Bruxelles. She is an Eisenhower Fellow