

European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights

Personal information

Surname(s)

Kjeldgaard-Pedersen

First name(s)

Astrid

Country

Denmark

Current professional position

Professor of International Law, Head of Centre for International Law and Security (CERES), Faculty of Law, University of Copenhagen

Position on the MB

Full Member

Term of office on MB

July 2022-July 2027

Additional Information

Astrid Kjeldgaard-Pedersen is Professor of International Law and Head of Centre for International Law and Security (CERES) at the Faculty of Law, University of Copenhagen, where she previously served as Vice Dean for Research (2022-2025). She holds a PhD from Aarhus University (2012) and an MA in Law from the University of Copenhagen (2004). Much of her academic work focuses on the role of the individual across the board in the international legal system, including the specialized fields of international human rights law, international humanitarian law and international criminal law. Her book on The International Legal Personality of the Individual was published by Oxford University Press in 2018. Since 2019, she has been the editor-in-chief of the Nordic Journal of International Law.