Additional Information

I am a Full Professor of Constitutional Law at the Faculty of Law, Comenius University in Bratislava, with a professional focus on the protection of fundamental rights and freedoms, constitutional values, and the rule of law. My work combines academic expertise with practical engagement in areas such as human rights protection, constitutional adjudication, and public governance, including the constitutional dimensions of local self-government.

I currently serve as Vice-Dean for International Relations (since 2019) at the Faculty of Law, Comenius University in Bratislava, where I contribute to the internationalisation of legal education and the development of study programmes taught in English. I am actively involved in shaping curricula and ensuring their alignment with European standards in legal education and fundamental rights protection.

In addition to my academic role, I bring extensive experience from institutional and advisory practice. I serve as an external advisor to a judge of the Constitutional Court of the Slovak Republic, where I contribute to the analysis of constitutional cases, including those concerning fundamental rights and freedoms (since 2019).

My professional engagement also includes participation in national and international expert bodies. I have served as Vice-Chair of the Board of the Slovak National Centre for Human Rights (2022–2024) and I am a deputy member of the Group of Independent Experts on the European Charter of Local Self-Government, contributing to the monitoring and development of standards related to democratic governance and local democracy.

Through my research, advisory work, and public engagement, I focus on strengthening institutional safeguards, legal certainty, and effective protection of fundamental rights, particularly in the context of evolving European and international legal frameworks.
