

FRA online language policy

As an agency of the European Union, we aim at making our work as accessible and as widely available as possible.

The FRA website is available in English, with most content also available in French and German. These languages were chosen as they represent the three official working languages of the European Union, and on the basis of a stakeholder/user survey, which showed that around 92% of users preferred English, 4% French and 3% German.

Many sections of the website are available in additional official EU languages. Some sections however are in all 24 official EU languages. These include in particular an introduction to FRA and its work (also available in PDF as a factsheet), and the Charterpedia, with comprehensive information about the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights.

Each FRA publication is usually accompanied by a press release which is translated into additional official EU languages.

A language filter is also available on the main publications page to help users to quickly find translations of FRA publications.

The Translation Centre for the Bodies of the European Union, which is based in Luxembourg and provides translations for EU agencies, provides the translations for FRA.

The official languages of the EU are Bulgarian, Croatian, Czech, Danish, Dutch, English, Estonian, Finnish, French, German, Greek, Hungarian, Irish, Italian, Latvian, Lithuanian, Maltese, Polish, Portuguese, Romanian, Slovak, Slovenian, Spanish and Swedish.
